DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.

DYED GEODE

"Geode" describes a rock that is hollow, often with crystals inside. "Color enhanced" is a term used by mineral dealers to describe adding color to an otherwise colorless or bland stone. The Quartz crystals in these geodes are naturally white; coloring them pink, purple, green, etc. makes them much more dramatic.